MYSTERY OF PITZEL CASE

The Supposed Victim of Holmes Turns Up in Chicago.

UNEXPECTED DEVELOPMENTS

The Insurance Representatives Are Certain That Murder Has Been Committed, But Pitzel Has Been Seen Alive Since the Finding of His Alleged Corpse.

By the United Press.
Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—The sensational conspiracy against the Fidelity Mutual Life association for which Herman Mudgett, alias Harry H. Holmes, alias Howard, Lawyer J. D. Howe, of St. Louis, and Mrs. B. F. Pitzel, have been indicted, took a new and unexpected turn today. The development in the nature of a dispatch received by President Fouse, of the Fidelity association, from the concern's Chicago representative, in which it was stated that Pitzel, the reported victim, had been seen in that city within two weeks. Pitzel, according to the dispatch, was located in Meyer's saloon on Sixty-ninth street in company with a man named Ryan.

If this shall prove to be true, it will confirm what Holmes has persistently adhered to—that Pitzel is alive. President Fouse is inclined to the belief. In view of this information, which he considers to be thoroughly reliable, he considers the case as being closed. "I think murder was done," he stated this afternoon, "but I believe the victim was a man other than Pitzel." Then dwelling upon this development he continued: "Our representative further says that the Mr. Ryan, with whom Pitzel was seen, is a Chicago business man who knows Pitzel well, having had business relations with him."

"Our Chicago man subsequently saw Ryan, but the latter declared his inability to locate Pitzel, the two having parted after leaving the saloon. The Pinkerton agency and our representative now at work upon a clue and I should not be surprised if Pitzel was found in a few days."

Lawyer Howe is expected to arrive this evening from St. Louis. President Fouse states that he expects to recover a portion at least of the $10,000 fraudulently secured from the association. "We have procured an attachment in St. Louis against Howe," he said, "and recover $2,000 of the money he received."

As Holmes maintains that the three missing Pitzel children are with their father, the discovery of the supposed victim will probably clear up the mystery regarding the offspring.

Media Pitzel's Opinion.
President Fouse had an interview this afternoon with Mrs. Pitzel. The latter's 14-year-old daughter Media was present in the cell, and the talk had not proceeded far when the girl declared that she believed her father to be alive. The daughter then told of a conversation she had with her father in Chicago in August last during which Pitzel said: "My daughter, if at any time you should hear that I am dead or that anything very serious has happened to me, do not believe it. I will be safe, no matter what you hear."

The girl had barely finished making this statement when her mother sprang to her feet, and throwing her arms around wildly, exclaimed: "Such lies, such falsehoods, I have never met with as in this affair; and even you, my child, have deceived me heartlessly and mercilessly." As the mother finished she cast a look of scorn on her daughter's cringing figure.

The girl further said that after the death of her father was reported she met Holmes in Boston. Holmes said to her: "I suppose your father told you what to think if his death was reported." To this Media made an affirmative reply, whereupon Holmes declared: "Well, that's right."

The president of the Fidelity association secured additional information from Mrs. Pitzel, which tended to show that Howe was in league with Holmes.

Holmes Tells His Story.
In his story Holmes said that when first he and Pitzel determined upon the conspiracy he, Holmes, was told by J. Edgar, the St. Louis train robber, who is now in jail, that Howe was a cool and nifty man and one that could be trusted. Holmes visited Howe and outlined the plot to him. Howe inquired closely into the details of the affair and was unwilling to appear as the principal in it. He advised that if it was successful that some friend of the family identify the supposed corpse first, as insurance companies are liable to be suspicious of attorneys who appear in cases when there is no evident need for their services.

Howe's advice was followed and he and Holmes and Alice Pitzel came east to identify the body. Holmes left Alice and Howe in Washington and came on here first.

The identification of the body followed, as has been told, and the body was put in the claim for the $10,000. Howe, Holmes and Mrs. Pitzel and Marshall McDonald, Howe's law partner, met in Howe's office and McDonald counted out the money to Mrs. Pitzel. Of the $10,000 Howe retained $2,500 for counsel fees and $100 for expenses.

Subsequently a division of the money was made as follows: Pitzel, $3,000; Holmes sent $1,000 to a broker named Blackman at 69 Dearborn street, Chicago; deposited $1,000 in the Merchants National bank at Indianapolis in his wife's name, gave Mrs. Pitzel $500 and retained the balance as his share.

Holmes, when told that Pitzel had been seen alive in Chicago within the last two weeks, expressed doubt of the fact. While claiming not to know where Pitzel is he says that he is either in South America or in the extreme southern part of the country.

Is Pitzel in South America?
Holmes seemed to be greatly shocked when informed that he was suspected of the murder of the three Pitzel children. He vehemently denied having harmed the children and says that he left them in Detroit, at the house of Mrs. Burns. He claims not to know the name of the street on which Mrs. Burns lives, but says that he could easily find it. Holmes sticks to his story that Pitzel will turn up, more especially when he hears that his wife has been arrested and that his friend is in danger of being indicted for his murder.

UNEXPECTED DEVELOPMENTS

The Insurance Representatives Are Certain That Murder Has Been Committed, But Pitzel Has Been Seen Alive Since the Finding of His Alleged Corpse.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—H. H. Holmes, the life insurance swindler now under arrest in Philadelphia, is charged with being the cause of the mysterious disappearance of a third woman during his operations in Chicago. That person is Miss Kate Durkee and she is said to have had considerable property. A year ago traditions of Holmes made a desperate effort to find out who and where Miss Durkee was. It was supposed at that time that she was an accomplice of Holmes and that property illegally obtained was being transferred in her name. Suddenly Miss Durkee dropped from sight, and like the Williams sisters, has left no trace behind.

NOVEL LITERARY WORK

Rev. Buck's Book to Be Published Three Years Hence Will Be Entitled "From the Pulpit to the Penitentiary."

By the United Press.
Baltimore, Nov. 21.—Solomon T. Buck, for twenty years an evangelist preacher, has been convicted of receiving money under false pretences and sentenced to three years imprisonment in the penitentiary. Buck engaged a number of agents last spring to sell a water filter, requiring each to deposit $25 to secure the right to sell. He disappeared without settling up with his employees and was captured at Bloomsburg, Pa.

The prisoner is 56 years old. Until 1870 he was a well known member of the ministry in Pennsylvania, belonging to the Evangelical association. He was a contributor to the religious press and also holds the copyright on a number of illustrated editions of the Lord's prayer and ten commandments, which bring him in a good income. He has a wife and a large family of children.

The minister has considerable literary talent and is now at work on a book which is to be issued under the title of "From the Pulpit to the Penitentiary," as soon as he has served his term.

MOB'S FIENDISH DESIRE

Attempts Made to Kill Ohio Militiamen with Dynamite.

By the United Press.
Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—A startling and important piece of evidence was presented to the Colonel Court of inquiry today. It was a basket containing forty sticks of dynamite that was found concealed near the court house the morning after a riot at Washington court house.

The first was kept a secret until today. It confirms the report that the rioters after the shooting had planned to blow up the court house, troops and all.

Colonel Colt was warned of this by telephone messages and placing troops in the balconies of the buildings, he ordered them to halt all persons attempting to approach the court house that night and to fire upon any one who refused to stop.

Several shots were fired at persistent skulkers and then all the rioters disappeared. It now seems probable that this caution prevented the angry mob from destroying the troops.

PROTEST FROM VETERANS

They Desire Protection in Rights Now Given in the Statute Books.

By the United Press.
Washington, Nov. 21.—Col. Thomas G. Lawler, the new commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, called at the white house today, accompanied by Adjutant General Jones, regarding the action taken by the executive committee of the Grand Army of the Republic at the late encampment in "Pittsburg" as to retaining Grand Army of the Republic men in office.

He did not see the president, but Private Secretary Thurber was handed a copy of the resolutions adopted at the Pittsburg encampment and a written statement with the request that it be handed to the president.

Commander Lawler said there was no disposition of the part of the Grand Army of the Republic unreasonable or to agitate imaginary grievances. It simply desired protection in the rights now given it by the laws on the statute books. It only claims that these laws shall be enforced and not violated at will by the heads of the various departments.

THE WIRE'S UNDERTONE

The price of lemons at New York was raised by the earthquake in Sicily. Bishop Ferrin, head of the Anglican church in British Columbia, is dying. Major General John A. McClelland, the war veteran, is seriously ill at Springfield, Ill.

As the result of a street fight, Army Sergeant, of Jonesboro, Ark., shot dead Judge J. D. Ferrell.

Thieves sandbagged Dever Brooks, a farmer, on the outskirts of Norwich, N. Y., and got $20.

The National Fraternal congress, representing 80 benevolent associations, is in session at Buffalo.

In a quarrel at the dinner table, Mary Sheehan, of Sing Sing, N. Y., shot dead her brother, William.

Press delivery of mails in rural districts was favored by the National Grange meeting at Springfield, Ill.

WAS BETRAYED BY A DREAM

How Harry Brooks Came to Be Arrested for Murder.

ALMOST LIKE A FAIRY TALE

Buffalo Physician Dreamed That He Saw Brooks Kill a Man and Leave His Body on an Erie Stairway—Recognized and Named a Detective.

By the United Press.

Buffalo, Nov. 21.—The arrest of Harry Brooks in Erie for the murder of another well known man about town, Henry C. Young, in that city last May, has brought to light a wonderful story of a somnolent revelation in Buffalo. Detective Brown, of the New York Central, arrested Brooks in the Central station early in August on the charge of impersonating a railroad detective and annoying passengers. When Brooks was taken to headquarters and asked to give an account of himself he said that if he wanted any information about him or his people they could go to Dr. E. H. Warren, of Michigan street.

Brown went to the doctor's home that morning. He had never seen the doctor and knew nothing about him; so when the detective came to the door the detective started to introduce himself.

"Wait a minute," exclaimed the doctor. "Don't tell me who you are. You are Detective Brown, of the New York Central, and you have got Harry Brooks arrested for the Young murder. Come in."

The wondering detective went into the house, and the doctor called his wife in and bade her tell the detective the story of a dream he had the night before.

His Wife's Queer Story

About 5 o'clock in the morning the doctor woke up in a sweat. He called to his wife and said that he had a terrible dream, in which he had seen Harry Brooks murder a man and leave the body on a stairway in Erie. He described it in detail, and said he then passed to a scene in which he saw Brooks arrested in Buffalo by a detective named Brown, whom he remembered so well from his dream that he recognized him when he found him on his doorstep.

The detective was much puzzled. He had read of the Young murder, but he had never heard of the charge being made against Brooks. He communicated with the Erie police and asked them if they wanted Brooks. They replied that they did not, and Brooks secured his liberty and returned to Erie. The detectives, who had about done all their work, took up the scent against Brooks when they learned of the doctor's dream from the railroad detective.

SEIZING AMERICAN NETS

American Fishermen Appeal for Protection Against a Canadian Cutter That Is Raiding American Water in Lake Erie.

By the United Press.
Sandusky, O., Nov. 21.—Lake Erie fishermen are much agitated at the conduct of Canadian officials regarding the fisheries of the lake. The Canadian cutter Petrel is a few miles northeast of Kelly's island, taking out gill nets. American fishermen claim these nets are in American waters, but they dare not approach the cruiser for fear of being seized.

They have appealed to the collector of customs here, who has taken steps to have the United States steamer Popen sent to the fishing grounds to see that no more nets are taken out of American waters. According to charts the place where the nets are being taken is clearly American water.

FRANCH EXECUTED

Bloodthirsty Anarchist Dies Snuffing at Religion with His Last Breath.

By the United Press.
Barcelona, Nov. 21.—The execution of Salvador Franch, a chief conspirator in the bomb-throwing plot, which resulted in the death of thirty persons and the wounding of eighty others in the Lyceum theater in this city a year ago, occurred here this morning.

Franch cried "Long live anarchy," as he was being led to the place of his execution, and scoffed at religion to the last. A few minutes before he was put to death he began singing and continued his song until he was no longer able to utter a sound.

The body of Franch was exposed in its place in the death chair until sundown. Great crowds of people gazed over his execution, making all sorts of remarks of a character showing their detestation of the man and the pleasure they experienced in looking upon his dead body.

MAY SELECT DINGLEY

It Is Suggested That Mr. Reed May Have Held in Silver Policy.

By the United Press.
Washington, Nov. 21.—Of the six present Republican members of the committee on coinage, weights and measures, five have been re-elected to the Fifty-fourth congress. They are in the order named, C. W. Stone, of Pennsylvania; Johnson, of North Dakota; and Aldrich, of Illinois.

Mr. Stone would naturally become chairman of the committee, but it is suggested that in case of Mr. Reed's becoming speaker he might have a personal policy with reference to silver which he would want to pursue, and in that event might want Mr. Dingley, of his own state, as the leader on his committee.

FUTURE OF SILVER

Depends on the Conference Soon to Be Held in St. Louis.

By the United Press.
Denver, Col., Nov. 21.—Treasurer I. L. Johnson, of the Bi-Metallic league, looks forward to the meeting of the executive committee of the league on Nov. 27 as an event of special importance. It is probable that the fate of silver will be decided at the meeting. If new life cannot be infused into the organization its promoters are of the opinion that it should be abolished.

The lack of interest on the part of silver-producing states is the most discouraging feature about this work," said Mr. Johnson. "It is possible that we can arrange at St. Louis for a meet-

log of silver men in Denver to discuss the situation, but it depends on the silver men themselves. Unless silver producers and large business men of Colorado and other mountain states come to the front at once I see little hope for the cause of free coinage for years to come."

Mr. Johnson says that the Republican party is a gold monometallic party, and is bound by indissoluble ties to the Wall street policy. He regards President Cleveland as bent on drawing as large a portion of the Democratic party as possible into gold monometallism.

HUNTING BURIED TREASURE

Unique Search Being Made in the Heart of Columbus.

By the United Press.
Columbus, Nov. 21.—A search for buried treasure in a thickly settled portion of the capital city is a unique occurrence, but it is now progressing on Livingston avenue, in the South End. The searchers are Fritz Stump, an elderly German, and his friends. Stump owned a lot of land that laid high and had as its principal charm a large, old, spreading elm tree. Some old man with something of a reputation as a wizard, had told Stump the section had been an old camp of the Indians, and that the gold probably marked the hiding place of some of the wealth of the aborigines.

With this romantic idea in mind the old man and his sons recently cut down the elm and dug the stump up by its roots. They dug every part of the lot and are still digging in search of buried treasure.

TO FIGHT THE INCOME TAX

Reported That Senator Hill Will Try to Head Off the Appropriation Intended for Its Collection.

By the United Press.
Washington, Nov. 21.—The commissioner of internal revenue announces that he is ready to begin the work of collecting the income tax, but Senator Hill may stop him. The senator announced with great positiveness at the last session that he would resume his warfare upon this method of taxation at the next session, and it is almost certain he will do it when congress meets, two weeks hence.

An appropriation of $500,000 to collect the tax will be asked for. It is much easier to defeat an appropriation than to pass it, and if Mr. Hill fights this appropriation with the same ability with which he fought the tariff bill, especially the income tax portion of it, he cannot easily be defeated.

SERVICES NOT REQUIRED

Japan Does Not Care to Settle Chinese Difficulties with the United States.

By the United Press.
Washington, Nov. 21.—Secretary Gresham has received a reply of the Japanese government to the offer of mediation made by our government between Japan and China.

While Secretary Gresham declines at present to give out the text reply received from Minister Doh, the United States representative at Tokio, the nature of the reply has been distinctly known in Washington for several days and has been plainly foreshadowed in United Press dispatches.

It is well known that Japan has courteously declined the offer of the United States and declares that in view of its successive victories overtures of peace must come from China.

THE MEMBERS ARRIVING

Preparations for the Reassembling of Congress on Dec. 3.

By the United Press.
Washington, Nov. 21.—At the post-office of the house of representatives today it was reported that twenty-five members of the house had arrived in Washington, preparatory to the reassembling of congress on Dec. 3 next.

The first official sign of the forthcoming session will be in the meeting of several sub-committees of the house committee on appropriations, called by Chairman Sayers for tomorrow.

ESHERITES IN THE SWIM

They Secure the Seminary Recently Held by the Dubuists.

By the United Press.
Lebanon, Pa., Nov. 21.—The Schuylkill seminary at Fredericksburg, Lebanon county, which has been in the possession of the Dubuists, was formally turned over to the Esher faction today. The students, some thirty-five in number, who have been attending the seminary, it is understood, will leave the institution.

AN INFIDEL COMPETENT

Important Decision in Trial of the Kerville Lynchers.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 21.—In the trial of the Kerville lynchers this morning Judge Cooper ruled Butch McCarver, who refused to testify on the ground that he was an infidel—to be a competent witness.

KEYSTONE VIGNETTES

The Central Pennsylvania Homoeopathic Medical society is in session at Tyrone.

The Laurel Run (Berke county) furnace has been sold by George Clymer to George E. Lanes.

A flash of powder disclosed, and perhaps fatally injured, L. E. Metz's son, Charles, at Fredrick.

Dickinson college athletes at Carlisle are disgraced at inability to win, and so will abandon foot ball.

Two bodies are probably still buried beneath the "Penny" wreck at Larimer. Three have been recovered.

United Evangelicals at Towson City will recopy their abandoned office. There are no Bowmans in town to take it.

Messrs. Spangler and Young, members of the legislature from Cumberland county, have publicly announced that they will support Hon. Henry F. Walton, of Philadelphia, for speaker of the next house.

HUGH McCOLLUM BURIED

Business Was Suspended in Montrose During the Funeral Hour.

HIS MAGNIFICENT CHARACTER

Was One of the Most Promising of Susquehanna County's Younger Sons. Evidence of His Great Popularity.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Montrose, Pa., Nov. 21.—Seldom, if ever, has this borough been overwhelmed with such an air of grief and regret as during this afternoon, when occurred the funeral of Hugh McCollum, one of the most promising young attorneys of the Susquehanna county bar and quite generally known as deputy collector of internal revenue for Wayne and Susquehanna counties. His magnificent personality, spotless character, popularity and promising future, and his being stricken in the prime of young manhood—all these tended to make his death a severe blow to the community as well as a shock to his immediate family.

Perhaps no better evidence of the universal sorrow over his premature death could be offered than in the observance of the funeral, which was held at 3 o'clock from the residence of his parents, Attorney and Mrs. A. H. McCollum. From 2:30 until 4 o'clock the stores, shops and postoffice were closed and business was suspended in order that all might do a last honor to the memory of one so estimable.

The funeral service at the house was conducted by Rev. E. A. Warriner, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, who also officiated during the preliminary service in the cemetery. The concluding rites were performed by the Masonic order. In addition to a concourse of friends so large that but a portion could gain admission to the spacious residence, the funeral was attended by the Masonic lodge, of Montrose, and visiting Masons, the Susquehanna county bar, Rough and Ready Engine company, No. 1, of which the deceased was president, and Montrose Engine company, No. 2. Each of these was present in its own body.

The floral pieces presented by organizations, friends and relatives were so numerous, handsome and elaborate as to be brought here from Scranton under the charge of the florist, who supplied them. Ten flower bearers, selected from Masons and firemen, carried the emblems to the grave.

The particulars of Mr. McCollum's last illness, added to the extreme respect and popularity he enjoyed, make his demise peculiarly pathetic. He had been sick with typhoid fever for three weeks and during that period had been treated with the best possible medical attendance and professional nursing.

The disease seemed to yield to the efforts to crush it and during Monday his recovery seemed assured. At 3 o'clock that afternoon his heart's action was impeded by clotted blood and in a moment he departed without suffering or immediate warning.

He is survived by a widow and his parents.

Hugh McCollum was 27 years of age at the time of his death and had lived in Montrose since boyhood. After an academic and common school education he studied law with the firm of McCollum, Searle & Smith, and a few years ago, after Judge Searle was elected to the bench, became a member of the firm. He had since been a diligent reader and student, was one of the acknowledged leaders of the county, and through honesty of purpose and ability seemed destined to become one of the prominent lawyers of this section of the state. A year ago he was appointed deputy collector of internal revenue for Wayne and Susquehanna counties. From boyhood his inclinations had been pure, unswerving and noble, and the same characteristics were so prominently associated with his brief professional career as to mark him one of the favorite younger sons of Susquehanna county.

TROLLEY ACCIDENTS

Pittston's Rapid Transit Vehicles Encounter Obstacles.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.
Pittston, Nov. 21.—Two accidents occurred on the East Side Traction line today. The first occurred about 6:30 in the morning and was caused by the electric car crashing into an Erie and Wyoming Valley freight car at the "crossover," which is located a little below Port Griffith. A large number of passengers were on the car, but all escaped uninjured. The vestibule was badly wrecked and the glass broken. Motorman Hunter was hurled to the ground and suffered the wrenching of an ankle.

The second occurred a few hours later. A car struck and killed a horse belonging to Patrick McGraw, of Plains. The accident happened at Curry's corners, Plains. The animal became unmanageable as the car approached and dashed directly in front of it.

BILLY WOULD ARBITRATE

The Suspended Base Ball Manager Dies Hard.

By the United Press.
New York, Nov. 21.—Billy Barnie, who was suspended by the National league for his alleged connection with the new base ball association, yesterday sent a letter to N. E. Young, president of the league, in which he denies the right of the league to constitute itself high judge and condemn him and also denying he had done or contemplated doing anything to injure base ball as a game.

In order to make this last point clear he offers to submit the allegations against him to a board of arbitration composed of W. S. Kames, president of the American association, Mr. Young and a third disinterested person.

STEPPED ON DYNAMITE

And Thomas McHugh's Boot Heel Suffered Flashed Away.

By the United Press.
Lima, O., Nov. 21.—Yesterday morning Thomas McHugh, who pumps the three wells for the Schuylkill-Dutchman company on the Faunt farm, was walking along the box that covers the connecting line, when he stepped with his heel on a few drops of nitro glycerine, which exploded, taking off the heel of his boot and throwing it with great # forces fully 400 feet onto the top of the paper mill dam, north of the Pennsylvania bridge. Strange to relate, his heel was only slightly injured.

McHugh is the same man who was thrown into a tree top when Andrew Schulte and two others were blown to atoms in the nitro glycerine explosion several months ago.

HE WAS A GOOD BLUFFER

The Recommendation That Secured James Willis an Appointment as Bank Cashier. By the United Press.

New Bloomfield, Pa., Nov. 21.—A sensation was sprung this afternoon in the trial of the officers of the Perry County bank. James Willis, the cashier of the concern, was put on the stand by the commonwealth, and he swore that the bank had been insolvent for the past twenty years and that not only were Sponsler and Junkin acquainted with the standing of the bank, but that he himself repeatedly advised them of its condition.

Cross examination developed the fact that when Willis was named from a clerkship to cashier his sole recommendation to the president by a son of one of the officers was that he was one of the best bluffers in the country. It was also shown that Willis had been offered immunity by the prosecution if he would make a frank and accurate statement of what he knew of the affairs of the bank and that on the other hand, the defense had threatened him in case he should testify against them. The first official exhibit of the liabilities of the wrecked bank in excess of all assets, was made today, and shows the amount to be $113,280.

CULTIVATED CONSUMPTION

A Bacteriologist a Victim of His Scientific Experiments.

By the United Press.
Columbus, Nov. 21.—Dr. Charles Graham, professor of bacteriology in the Starling Medical college here, like Dr. J. M. Byron, bacteriological director in the Loomis laboratory in New York, has contracted consumption by cultivating the tuberculosis microbe for the purpose of study. Dr. Graham supposes that he inhaled some of the germ while in a dry state under the microscope. Dr. Graham has gone to Colorado to secure the benefit of the dry air.

Dr. John M. Byron has given up his private practice and resigned from Columbus hospital in New York because of having contracted the disease. He expects to get well by tonics and by living in the most careful manner. Dr. Byron, like Dr. Graham, thinks he inhaled the germs while dry.

ELECTRIC CAR WRECKED

Serious Accident on the Pittsburg Street Trolley Lines.

By the United Press.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 21.—At 11 o'clock this morning an electric car of the Center avenue branch of the Central Traction company became unmanageable on a heavy Wylie avenue grade and dashed into a Wylie avenue cable car, just ahead, with terrific force. Three lady passengers were injured, one seriously. The motor man of the electric car, who stood at his post, was also seriously injured.

The injured were: Mrs. H. C. Jones, residing 208 Webster avenue, jaws broken and face burned by falling against the stove; Miss Rosa Brown, arms gashed and bruised; young lady, name given, cut on head; Harvey Ray, gripman on cable car, injured arms and back. The electric car was a complete wreck.
